

Office of the Secretary
Federal Trade Commission
Room 159

To whom it may concern:

I am extremely depressed to hear this proposed law to amend the Federal Trade Commission's Telemarketing Sales Rule to create a national do-not-call-list. This law is unconstitutional and unfair. Not to mention that I will lose my job, if this law passes. I work for a company that maintains an in-house do-not-call-list. I am sending my public comment before the March 29, 2002 deadline to express my genuine concern.

Most states already have do-not-call-laws. Why do we need federal government creating another do-not-call-law? Won't this just increase the cost to enforce such a law? As a taxpayer, I do not believe this is necessary. I think you should use our taxpayer dollars more wisely.

Sincerely,

TSR
